

YOUNG WOMAN DIES BEING TRAM WHEELS

Vancouverite Struck As She Lay Across Tracks Early Sunday

VANCOUVER. Feb. 27.—A young man and wife met mysterious death under the wheels of a street car here early Sunday, said police. The man was a former Calgary woman who was a victim of foul play. Police were baffled by the circumstances of his death, stockings and underclothing missing.

VANCOUVER. Feb. 27.—A young woman who died under the wheels of a streetcar in a little-peopled residential area was identified last night as Mrs. Alice Arnold.

Identification was made through the woman's husband, James Arnold, and Ronald Sutherland, a friend.

Land Coronor John Whitham said an autopsy indicated death had been due to injuries suffered when the girl, a sedative woman about 25, was struck by the streetcar.

PARTIALLY SOLVED.

Officers said identification of the woman, made after police broad cast her description in an effort to track down the killer, partially solved what many mystery of identity.

But detectives continued their investigation of events prior to the early morning accident, which was struck by the girl as she lay across tracks in the lonely district bordering Shaughnessy Heights.

Chief Inspector Frank explained her presence in that part of the city, miles from her home, during the hours.

They also were puzzled at finding the body only partially clad.

INTERNAL INJURIES.

Hospital records showed the man and woman were missing. Late the day and one stocking were found 100 feet from the scene of the collision. No other indications there was no trace.

Neither was there a handbag, but the pocket of the woman contained a gold vest containing a silver crucifix, a handkerchief, small package of cigarettes and 20 cents in cash.

She was a diamond solitaire on her engagement finger.

She died from internal injuries suffered when the car wheels struck her. Her left leg was severed below the knee. But cause of death was not definitely stated pending an inquest, probably next Tuesday.

Two-Year-Old Dies Of Burns At Farm Home

SILVER HEIGHTS. Alta., Feb. 27.—The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Leigh died in his farm home here Thursday morning after Mrs. Leigh found him lying a couch with his clothes afire.

Mr. Leigh said his wife was attempting to prepare the boy when the 10 minutes she was absent from the house. She found a candle had fallen in it lying on the floor.

Silver Heights is approximately 100 miles southeast of Edmonton.

Striking Miners Listen To Mass For Underground

HAZELTON. Feb. 27.—Half a hundred striking miners at an amicable mine listened to mass through a telephone amplifying system Sunday and later ate a chicken dinner sent down by friends.

Labor Calls for U.S. Co-operation of Business Government and Farmers

WASHINGTON. Feb. 27.—The American Federation of Labor called Saturday for co-operation of business, government, farmers and labor to expand production and promote recovery.

"In the last few years we have passed through a period of rapid inflation, amounting to a major revolution," said the AFL and in its monthly survey of business. "It is time now to reverse the reform movement and save the economy by industrial expansion to put men to work."

The review was prepared before President Roosevelt's appeal Salmon to William Green, AFL president, and John L. Lewis, president of Industrial Organizations, chairman, in urging toward peace in Labor ranks.

There was no mention in the review of AFL's A.P.T.O. strike.

Green agreed quickly to pay the premium's request that the AFL be requested to meet with the C.I.O. to review the AFL's position and to see if the AFL would not change its industrial strength.

Local unions replied immediately to Mr. Roosevelt's letter but in Labor circles it was accepted as foregone conclusion that Lewis would agree to negotiations.

Budget Makes No Taxation Increases Affecting Individuals Contemplated This Year

no new taxation to affect the average man or individual. The increase will be brought about by corporations requiring to make return for each branch and not offsetting one against another.

Public Debt Disclosed at $155,606,208.09

The budget discloses that the total public debt at March 31, 1938 was $155,606,208.09. Sinking fund provisions for this total, $123,633,075.01 which brings the net funded debt to $143,573,130.08.

It is also shown that the net unfunded debt is decreased by $1,801,451.22 in 1937.

Contingent liabilities are shown increased by $486,000, due mainly to guarantees advanced to municipalities, including Edmonton, Calgary and other Alberta cities.

No guarantees to feeder associations were implemented.

The budget gives a clear-cut statement of advances and guarantees to school districts.

Clear Statement Given on Oil Situation

It also gives a clear statement of the seed grain situation, the drought and semi-arid areas situation and also with respect to the rest of the province.

Mr. Low devoted some time to dealing with the oil situation and the satisfactory conditions prevailing therein. He pointed out that in 1938 oil production in Alberta was worth more than $8,000,000 and that 3,900,000 barrels more oil were produced in 1938 than in 1937.

There were 38 wells drilled last year, of which 37 were in the oil sand area and one was in salt under test. There are 15 test wells being drilled in structures other than in Turner Valley.

Between 1937 and 1938 tons of casing oil came from the McMurray salt wells and experiments are being conducted regarding various types of salt.

YIELD OF BEETS

Mr. Low stressed the value of the increase per acre in the yield of beets of two tons an acre, due to improved growing methods.

Beet feeders associations have been formed and are in operation. Three of these are near the sugar factories and the by-products from these factories are being used in a satisfactory way of fattening cattle and stabilizing the market for Alberta live-stock.

Herefore, said Mr. Low, the difficulty has been to insure a supply of fatted cattle for January and February. The market price at 50 cents a ton—from the sugar factories and the molasses spread over hay and straw, provide the fattening.

A new sugar factory has been promised for 1942, he said.

Guaranteed loans through the banks will be made to the extent of $100,000 each, he said.

Text of Mr. Low's speech follows:

Mr. Speaker: Once again it is my privilege to move that the House resolve itself into a Committee of Supply for the consideration of sums to be granted to His Majesty.

This is the third occasion on which I have had the privilege of addressing this assembly. I assure you, Mr. Speaker, that my responsibility is more keenly felt on this occasion than on any other. I again take the opportunity of reviewing the statements of the province for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1938, for the next nine months' period ended December 31, 1938 and the estimate for the ensuing fiscal year ending March 31, 1940.

Before dealing with the financial statement, I should like to refer briefly to the financial position of the principal industries of the province and to certain phases of government business.

Agriculture

Dependent as we are upon the condition of agriculture, our major industry, the figures presented and validly support the statement made by Mr. Low, impress upon the members of this assembly and upon the general public also, the gravity of making every effort to study of the problems relating to this basic industry. It is noteworthy that the first steps in this direction have already been taken at the instance of the Honorable Premier of Manitoba, through setting up a committee which it is hoped will accomplish what some while in co-operating the various options which are available in the best solution of the agricultural problem.

SEED ACREAGE

The acreage seeded to wheat in 1938 of 7,969,000 acres yielded approximately 100 bushels per acre as against 97 bushels in 1937. The total estimated yield is 143,000,000 bushels as compared with 75,700,000 bushels.

It should be noted that although the production of 1938 showed an increase of 27,300,000 acres over that of 1937, the farmers of this province will have received approximately 100 bushels per acre with $71,314,000 (or 1937, an increase of only $7,266,000) the average price per bushel being $0.58 as compared with $0.62 per bushel the previous year.

Oats yielded 101,000,000 bushels—an increase of 54,000,000 bushels, valued at $16,000,000—a decrease in value of $1,000,000.

GRAIN CROP

Summarized, the total grain crop is estimated at $105,000,000—a decrease in value of over $10,000,000 as compared with the value of the 1937 crop.

Dairy production reached a total of $17,871,321—an increase of by this government. Production from the forests was valued at $8,000,000—an increase of $535,700.

SALT PLANT

Last year I mentioned the establishment of a salt plant at McMurtry. The production during the year was confined to coarse salt, of which approximately 100,000 tons were marketed. At $200 per ton, the production totals $20,000,000—a figure which is now exceeded by the production level of the present year.

The value of all products derived from the resources of the province totalled $56,477,437—an increase of $410,000 over that of the previous year.

I am pleased to say that the increased value of the production from our resources is also reflected in the increased revenue through the Lands and Mineral Department, the revenue for the year ended March 31, 1938 being $1,162,000, an increase of $162,000 over the present fiscal year, that is to say, January 1, 1938 to December 31, 1937. In addition to the results of the mining operations of $162,000, has been reduced to $44,487,000.

While in common with all grain companies, there has been some difficulty in maintaining their earnings, they have held their liquid position, and have experienced no difficulty in meeting their debt requirements.

ALBERTA CO-OPERATIVE RURAL CREDIT ACT

The Board has continued the operation of these societies has been established. The outstanding loans to members of the societies included in the total of $14,981,812, as compared with $14,980,102 in the corresponding period of the previous year.

New loans made during this period amounted to $30,762,367; and the amount of loans repaid was $30,762,367.

The marketing of agricultural products is challenging the attention of all who are trained in the west. The work is of such magnitude and importance that it deserves the most careful investigation, not only by the agricultural authorities, but also by the government of the Dominion, of the provinces and the municipalities involved with the prosperity of the farmer.

SPECIAL AREAS

As I have stated in my previous report, 20 of these societies are being assisted by the government, defined as the Drought Area, and 12 are recognized as Special Areas.

The marketing of agricultural products is challenging the attention of all who are trained in the west. The work is of such magnitude and importance that it deserves the most careful investigation, not only by the agricultural authorities, but also by the government of the Dominion, of the provinces and the municipalities involved with the prosperity of the farmer.

Beet Sugar Industry

The industry requires another successful year, and I am pleased to note that the production of beet sugar has increased slightly from 500 acres, it is necessary to note that with increased experience and with the use of modern machinery, the production per acre per row was more than double that of 1937. The net reduction is shown at $90,903.33.

Another Highway Outlet

The late Sir Donald Mann many years ago picked Stewart, at the head of the Portland Canal, as the terminus for a proposed railway line to connect the Canadian Northern system in the prairie provinces with ocean shipping on the Pacific. The enterprising residents of Stewart are now advocating the construction of a highway due east, to cross the mountains by the Laurier Pass and link up with a highway extending westward from Hines Creek in the northern Peace River area.

They claim to have secured the assent of the British Columbia Government to the survey of the route and the cutting of brush for a winter road to the Alberta boundary; while from the Peace River end brush-cutting gangs have started working westward. Sir Donald's "dream" may therefore come true, though the new traffic route is planned immediately as a highway instead of a railway.

The location of Stewart makes it the Canadian port nearest to the Orient, while as the crow flies it is closer to northern Peace River and the territory beyond than is either Vancouver or Prince Rupert. It is besides the base for mining development in the Ground Hog coal area and other important mineral areas in northern British Columbia, and for the future exploitation of timber resources said to be valuable. These were the considerations upon which Sir Donald based his choice, and upon which the construction of the highway is being urged.

Can't We Sell Something?

A member of the British House of Commons protested because a shipment of 40 tons of Canadian copper reached Germany before Hitler threatened to march into Czechoslovakia. Canada, it is to be inferred, should have known the Fuehrer's intentions in advance, and stopped the shipment.

The world is flooded with cheap copper. Canadian copper makes up only a fraction of Germany's imports, and so far the particular shipments could not have interfered with the projected move. The munitions for that invasion had been made long before, and there may not have been an ounce of Canadian copper in any of them.

It almost seems that we are nearing the time when it may be held disloyal to the Empire or to the cause of peace to export anything from this Dominion. Our nickel mines, it is argued, should be put on short time and their employees on relief, because ten per cent of the nickel exported goes into munitions and Japan may be using some to bomb the Chinese.

Wheat, it is pointed out in many quarters, is a war necessity, and who knows that the dictators may not be piling up huge supplies against the day when their farmers will all be in uniform? Now copper's nominated for the black list.

Next it may be beef, or lumber, or leather. This is nothing that is not useful to a nation at war. What are we going to export if everything that may be used by an aggressor must be embargoed?

Yet the war-makers could make war, and would, if Canada never minded another pound of nickel or copper and never shipped another bushel of wheat across the ocean. And since the three dozen countries comprising the League of Nations could not stop wars by imposing sanctions, Canada couldn't do it.

The Redistribution Plan

The redistribution scheme submitted to the legislature by its special committee suited nobody, including the committee members. The most the latter said for it was that it would have suited better if they had been given more leeway. Their fellow-legislators didn't seem unanimous on even that proposition.

The plan proposes to extinguish eleven rural constituencies, cut off two city members, and create seven new country ridings, giving the next legislature a membership of 57, against 65 in the present house. The reduction of six is a gesture rather than a curtailment, and is of no practical importance. No money will be saved by it, and none would be saved if the reduction were twice as large. The policies of governments, not the sizes of legislatures, decide how much is to be spent.

The general principle applied is that since population has been growing in the northern two-thirds of the province, this area should be given added representation at the expense of the southern section. This is sound reasoning. But the principle should not be applied in the case of Edmonton. The population of this city has been growing rapidly for several years, but the plan proposes to cut down the city's representation by one-sixth.

The real redistributing will be done of course when the revising bill is brought into the legislature. The members are not bound to follow the recommendations of the committee, and the political map that emerges may or may not look like the committee draft. Stranger things have happened in like circumstances than that the next legislature should have the same number of members as the present one. Nobody has produced any really convincing reason why it shouldn't have.

The Wheat Preference

Hon. T. A. Crerar brought the wheat discussion down out of the realms of political romance when he told the House of Commons: "It can not be shown that a single farmer in Canada received an additional cent a bushel because of the preference" embodied in the Ottawa agreements.

In accord with these agreements a tariff of 6 cents a bushel was imposed on foreign wheat entering Great Britain. But the Canadian farmer did not get the 6 cents nor any fraction of it. Instead, he and sojourner a journey would be hard on these young and growing girls, but there is a feeling that the children of this country should have an opportunity of greeting them in some personal way."

A correspondent makes the delightful suggestion that Canadian children send to Their Majesties' daughters "some gift or token of good-will." This would establish a national enduring bond of friendship, and teach children more patriotism than the flaunting of colored paper, etc., wherever the King and Queen may appear. The children of France, this writer points out, on the occasion of the King's visit, gave him a "gift" to the Princesses, and I think it was one of the greatest features of the occasion, so homely and wholesome, and yet such a powerful spirit back of it."

It is of the ultimate importance that, in their own case, Canadian children send a personal gift in honor of the Royal Visit. If they do, its impression on youthful minds will be lasting. It will strengthen the bonds of good-will between the children of Canada and Britain.

The agreement did shut foreign wheat out of Britain. Which meant that the Canadian grower had to compete with Argentine wheat and United States wheat in other markets instead of the British market. And the Argentine grower, through government assistance and financial manipulation, cut prices to the limit. Perhaps the Canadian grower sold more wheat in Britain than he would have sold without the barrier against foreign wheat. But that he sold more wheat in all markets is no probability. The significant fact is that while the Argentine sold its wheat, despite exclusion from the British market, Canadian wheat piled up in the elevators.

The preference for Canadian wheat was a delusion, if it was not a deliberate pretense. It was designed to compensate the grower—to make him think he was getting compensation—while his chance to sell wheat in Britain or any other outside country was discounted by a Hama's gallows tariff against imported goods.

Editorial Notes

When a famous actress gets it the doctors call it a streptococcal infection. To others it is plain "sore throat".

One Berlin newspaper assures the makers they have nothing to fear because the United States is on the side of the democracies; it is too far away to help them. The abuse the accredited Nazi newspapers are hurling at President Roosevelt indicates that another, and more sensible, view of the matter prevails in official quarters.

A radio station at Chatham, Mass., picked up an SOS message signed by unlisted call letters, saying that an unarmed ship had been torpedoed by an unknown submarine somewhere south of the Azores and was sinking. A C.P.R. liner left her course and searched the location given, without finding trace of the mystery ship or the mystery submarine. Maybe the call for help was a ruse, perpetrated by some amateur wireless man, who no doubt rings in false alarms on the local fire alarm system in off moments.

Fifty Years Ago

From the Files of The Edmonton Bulletin

There appears now to be some definite hope of having a railway line connect Edmonton and Calgary. For some time efforts have been made to have such a plan endorsed, but till now Ottawa officials have remained "asleep." A new attitude on the project is now reported as prevailing in federal government circles.

Mr. Eden and Canada

Mr. J. M. Macdonell, well-known Toronto citizen, wrote a letter to the Times complaining that Mr. Anthony Eden neglected Canada on the occasion of his visit to the United States. He said that when a prominent English public man comes to the United States and does not find time to visit Canada "an unfortunate impression is created."

The real redistributing will be done of course when the revising bill is brought into the legislature. Which Is Disunity?

The esteemed New-Herald takes us to task and says to shrewdly because we cannot agree with the specious McCullagh propaganda now being backed by Eastern interests that are intent upon maintaining eastern control of Canada and frustrating the self-expression and development of the West. The West are accused, in this connection, of being disunited.

It all seems to boil down to a question of defining disunity.

What The Vancouver Sun wants to see is something that has not, nor the East, been seeing the tail of the whole country. It is a Dominion that stretches from Cape Breton to Victoria. The central and eastern parts may be more heavily populated than the western parts. But that accident of population does not make the forces of common impulse and of Canadian nationalism stand still.

The McCullagh policy, supported by eastern big-wheeled politicians, represented by the New-Herald, is based on high tariffs and a demand of expenditures in the West to express sympathy to Young Catholics on the death of Pope Pius XI, and adding:

"In these grim times, in the face of the terrible threat of world communism, let us rally around our common ideals of spirituality with courage and wisdom. He has clarified the thinking of the world by his firm declaration that the law of God must mould the standards of society. His life was an inspiration and his passing a loss to the people of all religious faiths."

More striking still was the resolution that came from the West. The Canadian Labor Congress, under the leadership of James Clagia Jones, a man of colored race—expressing sympathy to Young Catholics on the death of Pope Pius XI, and adding:

"In these grim times, in the face of the terrible threat of world communism, let us rally around our common ideals of spirituality with courage and wisdom. He has clarified the thinking of the world by his firm declaration that the law of God must mould the standards of society. His life was an inspiration and his passing a loss to the people of all religious faiths."

Against this pleasing picture of unity for peace, freedom, and human brotherhood is the picture of a narrow-mindedness supplied by the section of capitalist nationalists.

Increased Accommodation For Mental Patients Planned Under Budget

have provided a greater sum in case of need. Provisions is also made for added inspection under the Mental Health Act, and provision of radio communication will receive protection of forest services.

We hope, Mr. Speaker, that this particular expenditure, for radio communication, which was finalized last year, will finally result in reduced expenditures for conservation of timber resources. Relief expenses will show a slight decrease of $68,225.

It is most difficult to estimate the amount of relief required, because the amount is primarily governed by economic conditions, and the assistance furnished by the Dominion government under various agreements including the grant-in-aid to the province is variable, hence the province's expenditure for relief fluctuates accordingly.

Studebaker President Eight averages 27.48 miles per imp. gal... wins class trophy

AGAIN the motoring world gives its hat to Studebaker! Again Studebaker operating economy becomes a fact of official record and undisputed proof.

On January 5th, a stock Studebaker Commander captured the annual Gilmore-Yosemite economy classic in competition with the cream of America's cars! Averaging 30.94 miles per Imperial gallon!

The winning Commander triumphed over all low-priced cars... cars directly competitive in price... cars costing far more... all went down to defeat before the sensational gasoline economy of this stunningly styled, new, luxuriously appointed new Studebaker.

And, to make the Studebaker economy triumph even more impressive, a stock Studebaker President Eight won first place

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

By Louise Holmes

CAPTS OF CHARACTER
SISTER LAMBERT is a good wife and dreamer of being happy.

DICK THERMAINE—He liked Sister's ways but he couldn't see her smile.

TEPPY—He is the chief concern to make Sister as beautiful as she wanted to be.

SISTER'S EYES—Her youth training program in the Bureau of Relief and Welfare involved a net outlay by the province of some $120,000, the balance to be furnished by the Dominion government.

She also noted a new appropriation in this branch of $30,000 under terms welfare details of which is assembly by the members of this committee of health.

YESTERDAY—Jeff discovers Sister's secret of beauty and finds her a good wife.

TO-DAY—Sister's eyes blazed. Her mouth worked. "No... I didn't know then that I had tears in my eyes."

SISTER'S SIGH—She is away to the guilt. "Give me some more malted milk," she commanded.

YESTERDAY—Sister's eyes blazed. Her mouth worked. "No... I didn't know then that I had tears in my eyes."

TO-DAY—Sister's eyes blazed. Her mouth worked. "No... I didn't know then that I had tears in my eyes."

TESTAMENT IS BEACON LIGHT WIZNUK AVERS

Pastor Delivers Last In Bulletin's Sunday Meditations Series

The New Testament is a beacon light to us, guiding mankind through the years and its exalted precepts are capable of saving us all. Rev. Joseph Wiznuk, pastor of the Proprietary Chapel, said Sunday afternoon in the concluding meditation, "Sunday Meditations from the Gospels."

He took at his text: "But seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

Text of Rev. Mr. Wiznuk's sermon follows:

WORD OF HOPE

We no longer feel ourselves in a world of simple virtues and confidence in progress. "Plain living and high thinking" are not the lot of the average man.

We live in a civilization fraught with all the possibilities of self-indulgence, profligacy, decadence, or have in our ears: weird religious sects—more intent on propagating mystery than truth; the principles of the Kingdom of God—principles rather than clarity of the law—and examples of basic ethics, religious principles that they alone have grasped the ultimate truth.

But what history is being made before our eyes, let us beware lest we be taken upon the up-slope.

KNOWLEDGE OF TRUTH

Jesus exhorted us to place first things first; to seek the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all that would follow. That would be ours in their due time. When Jesus spoke of the Kingdom of God he was referring to a spiritual system from which poverty and wrong-doing had been banished. Or was it that, plus something more?

Some hold that because Christ did not proclaim a material Kingdom, cast out demons, heal the sick, or political theory, His ideal must necessarily be unspiritual and vague.

Those who thus stress the importance of some specific form often commit the error of forgetting, on the one hand, the value of the spirit of that form. They would create what they considered perfect moulds in which the elements could fit into—like a jigsaw puzzle—but that did not fit.

We, however, cannot subscribe to this Procrustean method. Even so-called perfect moulds would not fit tight and serviceable only until such time as conditions changed; after that, the process would have to begin all over again.

NOTES FROM THE CHURCH

Christ has in something more valuable than specifications for a particular time and place. He gave us principles of application irrespective of changing conditions—principles which the world of flux has not discredited.

PRAYER FOR FAITH

The New Testament particularly the parables, outline the characteristics of this new order, and the underlying principles that are to guide us in our lives.

"You are aware that those who are deemed rulers among the Gentiles do not rule in the way that great men make them feel their authority; but it is not so to among you. It is not so that it will be great among you to be modest," (Mark 10, 42-43).

With these remarkable words without the conviction that they were meant as much for us as for the people of the first century.

In the same way, when there is to be no unlimited scope for human ambition—but in the direction of God.

He who desires to be great must serve. Our attitude to the homeless, the hungry, the sick and the weak whether we have the sick will show whether we have obeyed the fundamental law of love.

LAW OF SERVICE

In another parable, Christ tells us that we are like leaven hidden in a measure of meal. As men practice the law of service, so too will the Kingdom of God expand into higher beings, and transform the environment in which they live.

The action of the leaven is gradual and imperceptible, but it is bound to happen. Those who have leavened Christians must go on working, teaching and practising the law of service, for the Kingdom all have been won to the kingdom which He preached.

We must maintain a positive and constructive attitude to life and work, until the world has been transformed into the kingdom of God.

From the parables of the developing grain, the wheat and tares, and the mustard seed, we learn that the kingdom of God is not to be sought after, but the ear, after sowing the blade, then the ear, after sowing the full corn in the ear."

NOTES FROM THE CHURCH

The seed of God on earth is not going to burst in upon us like thunder, irrespective of what we do. It's not as simple as all that.

Those who are most successful in things are going to right themselves suddenly without our participation, are those attempting to escape from reality.

They are not equal to accepting life on God's terms, with God in establishing the reign of righteousness. They are content to fold their hands and say, "It's not my fault."

The ridiculous thing about this view is that it tends to paralyze Christians. If we are to accept life on God's terms, with God in establishing the reign of righteousness, we must work with God if we may. If we align ourselves with His benevolent pur-

Final Sermon

REV. JOSEPH WIZNUK
delivered the final sermon in the Sunday Meditations series over CFRN Sunday afternoon.

WORD OF HOPE

We no longer feel ourselves in a world of simple virtues and confidence in progress. "Plain living and high thinking" are not the lot of the average man.

We live in a civilization fraught with all the possibilities of self-indulgence, profligacy, decadence, or have in our ears: weird religious sects—more intent on propagating mystery than truth; the principles of the Kingdom of God—principles rather than clarity of the law—and examples of basic ethics, religious principles that they alone have grasped the ultimate truth.

Those who thus stress the importance of some specific form often commit the error of forgetting, on the one hand, the value of the spirit of that form. They would create what they considered perfect moulds in which the elements could fit into—like a jigsaw puzzle—but that did not fit.

We, however, cannot subscribe to this Procrustean method. Even so-called perfect moulds would not fit tight and serviceable only until such time as conditions changed; after that, the process would have to begin all over again.

LAW OF SERVICE

In the eighth chapter of Matthew we find Jesus in a parable, the parable of the Good Samaritan. Here we see a co-operation that is that of love and creed—a co-operation of man and man and man and God.

This consciousness of our oneness with other men, makes us more kind and courageous to face the difficulties of life.

The Kingdom which Christ proclaimed is to be universal in its scope. It was not to be the monopoly of any one race—all who practice the law of the kingdom and the law of God.

Those who are most successful in things are going to right themselves suddenly without our participation, are those attempting to escape from reality.

They are not equal to accepting life on God's terms, with God in establishing the reign of righteousness. They are content to fold their hands and say, "It's not my fault."

The ridiculous thing about this view is that it tends to paralyze Christians. If we are to accept life on God's terms, with God in establishing the reign of righteousness,

CLIVE GROUP GIVEN DRAMA HONORS HERE

Checkov's "The Bear" Wins Award—Medicine Hat is Runner-Up

The Clive Dramatic Society won first place in the Alberta drama festival with its production of Anton Chekhov's "The Bear" on Friday night of the competition. George Skilton directed the play, which never had to make use of its 17 month duration, will expire at midday Tuesday.

For women was the Medicine Hat Little Theatre Association, which presented "Still Stand the Houses," written by John M. Alts, and graduate of the University of Alberta.

NATIONAL EVENT

The national drama festival will be held in the national drama festival to be held in London, Ont.

The greatest distinction for his performance as Grieg Stepanovich Smirnov, the explosive retired artillerist and last survivor of "The Bear," went to Mr. Haskins who also awarded the best actor's trophy. He was a similar performance by Ethel Fineley turned to the stage in Calgary two years ago.

Her sensitive interpretation of the play, "Ruth Was a Woman," was given by Ruth Brown. Ethel Fineley the trophy symbolic of the best performance by any actress at the festival.

LONG DISTANCE

The Clive players, it was disclosed by Donald Cameron, president of the Alberta drama league, had travelled more than 2,000 miles for their rehearsals.

Mr. Haskins, who has now directed 10 plays, said that he had been asked to direct in the summer. Over coats take up room, bunch you forwards, toward the steering wheel, and you're inextricably immobile. And you don't need them.

"Modern body building plan, which started ten hours after close inspection, is the other side of the coin," said Mr. Haskins.

The great adjudicator said that Ethel Fineley turned in a "remarkable performance, truly a gem."

Winner of the second Clive play, which attained top honors after close inspection, was the other member of the company, Mrs. Skilton, sister of Hilda Harrow, Charles Morton and Mr. Haskins.

It was directed by Mr. Duffy. Miss Skilton said he could not have acted as he did if he was not a farmer who had to hurry home to help with the harvest.

Other awards were given to Mr. Myrtle Const A.T.C.M., "Two Guitars"; Mrs. K. E. McLean, "The Star"; and Miss Edith Payne, "Cathy of the Wagons"; Capt. Frank Sorenson, "The Wagons"; James J. G. Waggon, "W. Smallie's Cabin."

Winners of the wings, which attained top honors after close inspection, in the other category, were the Alberta Flying Club, directed by Philip Johnson, presented by the Royal Literary Society.

Mr. Johnson, who had directed the first three plays, said, "I am very pleased with the results of the competition."

Winners of the wings, which attained top honors after close inspection, in the other category, were the Alberta Flying Club, directed by Philip Johnson, presented by the Royal Literary Society.

Mr. Johnson, who had directed the first three plays, said, "I am very pleased with the results of the competition."

Mr. Haskins said that he had been asked to direct in the summer. Over coats take up room, bunch you forwards, toward the steering wheel, and you're inextricably immobile. And you don't need them.

"Modern body building plan, which started ten hours after close inspection, is the other side of the coin," said Mr. Haskins.

The great adjudicator said that Ethel Fineley turned in a "remarkable performance, truly a gem."

Winner of the wings, which attained top honors after close inspection, was the other member of the company, Mrs. Skilton, sister of Hilda Harrow, Charles Morton and Mr. Haskins.

It was directed by Mr. Duffy. Miss Skilton said he could not have acted as he did if he was not a farmer who had to hurry home to help with the harvest.

Other awards were given to Mr. Myrtle Const A.T.C.M., "Two Guitars"; Mrs. K. E. McLean, "The Star"; and Miss Edith Payne, "Cathy of the Wagons"; Capt. Frank Sorenson, "The Wagons"; James J. G. Waggon, "W. Smallie's Cabin."
